They also presented a seven-year budget that maps expenses. Plans include replacing the Authority's server to increase system security and reliability. After initial high expenses in getting the systems up-to-date and secure, costs should decrease.

Greg Such asked about cloud-based storage. Mr. Houk explained that the Authority is using a hybrid model, utilizing both cloud and on-site storage, taking performance, security and accessibility, and cost into consideration. Ed Eckenrode asked what services will be cloud or on-site based after the new server is installed.

Board members had expressed concerns regarding the cost. Manager Autumn Crawford explained that contracting with a professional IT consultant is vital in securing the Authority's data from external threats and preserving continuity in the event of power loss. Tom Tomayko asked why the costs are so high. Mr. Houk explained that application licensing is among the significant costs.

Mr. Eckenrode asked whether all of the Authority's issues would be corrected. Mr. Houk explained that most of their work was preventative maintenance, and should mitigate future issues.
